Volume 10

June 2008

Monthly e-newsletter from The South African Institute of the Interior Design Professions (IID) designed to give Members insight as to the developments taking place within the Institute, our Members and the Industry.

IID Update

Following on from our last newsletter, the IID held a meeting with our newly elected National Council on 12 June to discuss and plan the way forward for our new financial year which starts on 1 July 2008.

As with any business it's important to be self critical and to continually review our performance and effectiveness. This was there therefore also an appropriate time for us to review the past year and look at what the Institute has achieved.

IID Update

A leaflet on the IID's achievements has been posted to Members with the July edition of the DESIGNING WAYS magazine. Please contact the National Office if you do not receive it on 011 465 9732 or national@iidprofessions.com.

One of the key challenges that the IID faces, along with professional associations across the globe, is the question of "Why should we belong to a professional body and what has it ever done for us?" This is an interesting perspective considering that the association doesn't exist simply to serve us. Rather it's a vehicle for us to work through to achieve common goals.

A key driver for being a member of the Institute is the credibility of association you receive by belonging to the professional body.

The IID also strives to offer Members value-added services to enhance your membership. It was therefore agreed at the National Council meeting that the Regional Liaison Officers would host a workshop to discuss and obtain the explicit requirements of Members in each Region. These requirements will then be collated at our next NC meeting, prioritised, budgeted and implemented in the new financial year. Whilst this process may seem longwinded, the IID believes that it is imperative that all Member's requirements, needs and suggestions are considered in order to grow, sustain and develop both the Institute and our profession.

Please contact your Regional Representative for the dates of their workshops and to ensure that your requirements are communicated to them □

Mission Impossible turns out to be Magical Makeover

When Thebe Exhibitions and Events, including the dynamic Decorex team, moved to their new Bryanston-based headquarters in Medscheme Office Park, the drab and the dreary awaited them. Trapped in a time warp, dark maroon and navy walls stood as dated reminders of the 1980s, when big hair, shoulder pads, power dressing, Dynasty and Joan Collins reigned supreme.

Melanie Robinson, Decorex Director, explains: “We wanted something young, edgy but at the same time sophisticated and calming. Most importantly – we need to practice what we preach! With re-use being a cornerstone of our green philosophy, we wanted to make use of furniture we had; and as Decorex has its finger on the trend pulse, the resurgence of wallpaper was a key element we wanted the new look to reflect.

Tanja Beyers of Profurn Contracts, accredited member of IID and winner of numerous Decorex Best Stand Awards, was put to the challenge. The timing was the biggest hurdle. It was right before Christmas; many manufacturers were closing. But Melanie and her team were set on starting the New Year in a beautiful, creative environment. “Decorex celebrates its 15th anniversary in 2008, so we wanted our work space to reflect our vitality and ethos.”

A true professional, Tanja was not fazed by the seemingly impossible, noticing off the bat an old wooden kist with potential to be transformed into a coffee table. After all – you can do magic with some silver paint and a glass top! Setting out to create a fresh, functional space which is also elegant and feminine, a smoky blue coloring was chosen to anchor the soft peaceful color palet. Beautiful romantic wallpaper, mirrors and crystal chandeliers added a touch of modern luxe.

Creating a romantic ambiance in an office environment was not all moonshine and roses, though. Says Tanja, “the project entailed working within an existing space and having to work around existing ceiling bulkheads and coffer details. This influenced the positioning of reception counter and seating arrangements. Different ceiling treatments were also part of the package i.e. mix of flush plaster and ceiling tiles.”

The solutions included clever new lighting and a high level picture rail along a curved passage with blue paint above and striking textured white wallpaper below. Thebe Exhibition posters were placed to complete the pleasing effect. “This pulled the eye line away from the unsightly ceiling grid.”

Realising that Decorex is huge role player in the decor industry, it was important for Tanja to create something unique.

Magical Makeover

“The interior should connect with visitors from the moment they enter the reception area. I believe the mirrored reception counter has achieved this. I love the idea that everything is mirrored on the fascia of the counter and that it is ever-changing. So often reception counters are heavy and imposing on their visitors and with this weightless counter we have endeavored to create a friendly eye contact scenario with the client and receptionist.”

As the move to the new premises happened at the end of 2007 - just before Christmas shutdown – the project was done in phases. “The main priority was to get all the building work out of the way, such as partitioning, carpeting and wallpapering. We then added the final touches when we all returned in the new year. All in all it took about six weeks for completion, including the shop fitting.” The new décor is not only about show, and the beauty is much more than skin deep. To create a harmonious, calming environment, which would also energize the people working there, the Decorex team planned the layout themselves and had a say in the look they wanted the office to portray. As an all-women team, no-one minds that a reflective, ethereal look replaced the 1980’s machismo. The compliments keep rolling in and the whole team loves the new working environment. “It goes to show,” says Melanie, “when you want quality and a professional result, call in the experts. We tip our hat to Tanja Beyers, the magician that made it happen.” □

Promote, Promote, Promote

Marketing schools tell you that in times when business is slow you must accelerate promotion. With this in mind the IID has two exciting opportunities to assist Professional Members to promote your company, services and generate leads. They will also create public awareness of the Institute and the benefits of engaging the services of our Members.

These opportunities are still in the conceptual stages and will be explored further, based on the feedback we receive from Members. They will be allocated on a first come first served basis. Please see details on right-hand side.

IID Presents at Design Education Forum of Southern Africa 2008 Workshops

Our President, Des Laubscher, was asked to present the IID's views on what the requirements of industry are for graduates entering the market at the recently held DEFSA conference. The other associations invited were The Communication Design Council of South Africa, (THINK) and the Industrial Design Association of South Africa (IdeaSA).

The DEFSA workshops were held concurrently with the Network of African Designers (NAD) 2008 Conference at the Theatre on the Track, Kyalami, Midrand. Some of the key issues for graduates entering the industry read as follows:

- They need to be analytical
- They need to be able to work through ideas to find original, creative and functional solutions to problems
- They need to communicate ideas to others
- They need PASSION

There is also a dire need for Institutions to produce graduates with a solid research base:

- Research that is critical and academically credible
- Research into new technologies
- Research that bridges the economic gap of surplus consumerism and abject poverty
- Research that addresses everyone's needs through good design
- Research that addresses sound environmental design solutions □

IID Attends SACAP 'Bosberaad'

The South African Council for the Architectural Professions (SACAP) held a 'bosberaad' earlier this month for all their Voluntary Association (VA) Members. Themed 'Sustainability through Transformation and Relationship Building' the event was aimed at obtaining a better understanding of SACAP and improving the interaction between the VA's in order to grow, transform and sustain the Architecture and Interior Design professions.

We'd like to extend our thanks to Amanda Landers, IID Gauteng Regional Liaison Officer, for attending the bosberaad on behalf of the Institute.

It was a great opportunity for the IID to develop our relationship with the other VA's and it was particularly interesting to note that we all share similar challenges – so hopefully we can learn from one another going forward.

SACAP are currently reviewing the input received from the VA's and we are awaiting their feedback. Things are happening. Watch this space

IN MEMORY OF

IAN VALENTINE CALDER

01/04/29 - 30/07/08

IT IS WITH GREAT SADNESS THAT WE ADVISE OF THE PASSING OF IAN CALDER IN CAPE TOWN ON 30TH MAY 2008. AT THE AGE OF 79, IAN WAS AMONGST THE ELDERS OF THE DESIGN & DECORATING FRATERNITY. HE PRACTICED AS FAR BACK AS THE MID 50S. COMING FROM CAPE TOWN WITH DESSI, THEY STARTED THE IAN CALDER SHOP IN ILLOVO. THEY THEN MOVED TO PARKWOOD WHERE HIS 3 YEAR ENGINEERING DEGREE FROM UCT PROVIDED HIM WITH THE ANALYTICAL MIND AND DESIRE TO DESIGN AND BUILD SOME OF THE MOST PRESTIGIOUS HOMES IN JOHANNESBURG. WITH DESSI BY HIS SIDE THEIR DECORATING TALENT WAS BROUGHT TO THE FULL. HE THEN STARTED THE FIRST INTERIOR DECORATING SCHOOL WHICH WAS RUN FROM THE SHOP IN THE EVENINGS. LATER DESSI TOOK IT UP TO SAXONWOLD AND THEN TO 158 JAN SMUTS WHERE THE IAN CALDER SCHOOL OF INTERIOR DESIGN PROSPERED. IAN THEN EXPANDED THE COMPANY WITH THE PURCHASE OF PLUS ONE INTERIORS AND THE SETTING UP OF THE COMMERCIAL DESIGN ARM OF CALDER-STEWART. MUCH OF HIS WORK STILL STANDS UNTOUCHED TODAY I.E.: THE ANGLO AMERICAN 44 MAIN STREET RECEPTION WHICH IAN COMPLETED IN 1977. HE BELIEVED THAT A DESIGNER'S JOB WAS TO GIVE THE CLIENT A NEW WAY OF LIFE, NOT JUST A SET OF DRAPES AND HIS SAGE ADVICE TO HIS STUDENTS WAS ...ALWAYS GET A DEPOSIT. IAN WAS A MEMBER OF SAGID FROM THE EARLY EIGHTIES AND THE INDUSTRY WILL MISS HIS WONDERFUL TALENT.

THE IID WOULD LIKE TO THANK IAIN STEWART FOR KINDLY WRITING THESE WORDS FOR US □
